> THIRTY-SECOND CONGRESS. SECOND SESSION.

Sanato. Washington, Feb. 26, 1853. COMMUNICATIONS-THE CHARGES AGAINST THE CENSUS SU

The Chair laid before the Senate several executive communications, all of which were laid on the table, and

Also, a communication from Mr. Kennedy, Superin tending Clerk of the Census, asking an investigation of his conduct. Referred.

CIVIL AND DIPSOMATIC APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. HUNZER, (dem.) of Va., reported the Civi Mr. HUNTER, (dem.) of Va., reported the Civi and Diplomatic Appropriation bill, with amendmeats. He said, as soon as the Army bill was disposed of, he would move to take it up, and that all the amendments reported by the "inance Committee be adopted in gross, and then other cosmittees could of their amendments, and let them all be adopted. The amendments could be printed, and on Monday, when the bill was taken out of Committee of the Wh le, separate votes could be had on each, as they were disputed. Unless something of this kind were done, all the appropriation bills would have to be referred to conference committees to examine the amendments. He then moved to take up the Arry bill.

tees to examine the ameadments. He then moved to take up the Array bill.

Messra. Eowns and Rusk desired some time for other budieses.

Mr. Hunter's motion was agreed to.

Mr. Start and Shields' amendments, which were consolidated into one. to strike out the provision that the armeries shall be placed under the charge of civil superintendents, and authorising the President, when in his opinion it would be conducive to the public interests, to appoint superintendents who are not array officers, and discting a mixed commission of officers and civilians who shall examine and report which system, civil or military superintendents, is the best for the public interest.

Mr. Rusk, (dem.) of Texas, opposed the amendment, and strongly argued in favor of civil superintendents.

Mr. Butler, (dem.) of S. C., replied—He regarded the whole poposition to give the armeries to civilians, as set on foot by arceulators, who desire to have the handling of the $200,000 per annum.

Mr. Hunders said he desired information, which could only be obtained in this way, and he thought it likely that the report would show that it would be better to abolish the government armories, and then allow the government to buy its arms from that mechanic who could make the bost.

Mr. Bull spoke in favor of military superintendents.

An amendment striking out the appropriations for custom houses at Cincipnati, St. Louis and Louisville, was rejected.

The mission to China was raised to the full grade.

$20,000 was appropriated to defray the expenses of the Turkish steam frigate curing her visit to New York during the World's Fair.

$70,000 was added, to continue the Mexican Boundary. The bill was then postponed, and four private bills were passed. Adjourned.

WABHINGTON, Feb. 26, 1853.

The SPEAKER said-When the House adjourned yesterday he Clerk was about reading a paper from the Secretary of the Interior, written to Hon. James Letcher, in reply certain charges recently made against him by Colonel

Mr. Stanly, (whig) of N. C., hoped it would be read as an act of courtesy.

Mr. Venable, (dem.) of N. C.—It ought to be read.

Mr. Jonns, (dem.) of Tenn.—Let it be read, and the House proceed to other business.

The letter of the Secretary of the Interior was read, to the effect that, in the month of April, 1852, a clerk, by the name of Collins, died suddenly, leaving a family in great destitution. While the corpse was lying in the house, French S. Evans came into the department, and represented the depressed condition of the family, and saked for the appointment of the son in the place of his father. The boy was fifteen years of age, and was not competent to descharge the duties of the office without assistance. The family spoke to Mr. Kane, and he undertook fatherly supervision over the boy, and to instruct him in his duty, and perform such parts of it as the boy could not, and to receive a suitable compensation therefor. As to the details of the arrangement time and does not know that he ever saw the boy. He had thattered himself that he had consented to a commendable act in saving a family from want, and putting a meritorious boy in the way of promotion. Col. Gentry has fallen into several errors of fact. So far from the boy being competent, he could not perform the duty without aid. When Col. Gentry called upon him to annul the contract between Collins and Kane, he refused to do so, the family having been parties to the contract. Kane had been their benefactor, and through his aid they had received their support. In conclusion, he challenges the most rigid saving been parties to the contract of his, and all he asks is a full investigation before judgment is pronounced.

had received their support. in conclusion, he challenges the most rigid scrutiny into this and every other act of his, and all he asks is a full investigation before judgment is pronounced.

Several other papers were read in correboration of the above statement.

Mr. Stankt withdrew his question of privilore, believing the House had done an act of justice to Secretary Stuart by having the papers read.

There being ne objection, the simple fact that the papers were read was ordered to be entered on the journal.

Mr. William, (whig) of Tenn., said, as an act of justice to young Collins, that the boy called upon him, and informed him that he was receiving but $700 per annum, and, further, that he was discinaring the full duties of the onice. Not relying on the sixtement of Collins, a clerk, at his instance, accertained such to be the fact. There is no mistake about the boy being lifteen years old at the time he was appointed. But when Col Gentry called at the office to lenguire into the matter the boy was sixteen.

MISCHLARMOUS.

The House refused to suspend the rules, to take up the Senate bill to extend pre-supition on rights on unsurveyed lands, and for other purposes, and concurred in the report on the disagreeing amendments of the two houses to the West Point Academy bill.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, Mr. Preston Ring in the Chair, on the Natay Appropriating sant.

The clause appropriating nearly two millions of dollar for the repair of vensels in ordinary, and for ressels in commission, including the purchase of hemp, being inder consideration, Mr. Stanton, (dam.) of Tenn., moved a proviso, that the Secretary of the Navy be directed to accept the proposition of the United States Mail Steamability to such test as the Source may slope, for asval purposes. If the test prove satisfactory, the government shall take the ship at an appraised value.

The Chairman valed the amendment out of order.

Mr. Stanton appealed, on the ground that the law establishing the line of mail made, they will go se rebuilding their Princetens and Vikons just as they are now doing the Constellatios, at Norfolk Such is the folly of our laws, by which the department is precluded the availing itself of improvements in awal architecture.

Mr. Houston, (dem.) of Ala., said the appropriation was intended to do what the gentleman proposed, and in proof of this, he read from the official documents.

The smendment was rejected.

Mr. Brantz then offered one appropriating one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars for the equipment, mentionners, and support of the expedition to explore the interior of Africa castward of Liberia, and for ascertaining the rescorces of that region for the colonization of blacks from the United States.

The Charman ruled this out of order.

Mr. Goodson (whig) of Me., offered an amendment, appropriating six thousand dollars to be spent at the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy, for the purchase of Phillip's fire annihilators. This was recommended by the Secretary.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr ETARTOR (of Tenn.) offered one authorizing the sale of a portion of the lards of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, between the western side of Yanderbilt avenue and the hospital grounds, provided it shall not be sold for less than its cost and the interest thereon.

After a debate, this was disagreed to.

Various amendments were acted upon, and but few agreed to.

During the proceedings, General Pierce, having escaped from the crowd that surrounded him in the Rotunda, slipped into the House. In a moment he was environed by the greedy lobby loungers and members of Congress. Introductions ensued, and the crowd kept increasing. In by the shortest route, again to inbale fresh air.

The Committee rose and reported the bill to the House.
The amendments were concurred in, the bill was passed,
and the House adjourned.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

ALBANY, Feb. 26, 1852, GENERAL RATEROAD LAW-PACIFIC STRANSHIP COMPANY. Mr. BARTIETT (dem.) reported favorably on the bill smeeding the general railroad law, relative to laying out

The bill to amend the charter of the Pacific Steamship Company was passed. ATTANTIC AND PACIFIC BATTERNAT

Mr. BESNETT (dem.) called up the Atlantic and Pacific

Mr. COOLEY said he desired the greatest happiness

Mr. Benner (dem.) called up the Atlantic and Pacific Raircad bill.

Mr. Cooley said he desired the greatest happiness of the greatest number, and moved to reduce the shares from one thousand to one hundred dollars. Was lost, by 11 to 16.

Mr. Bancock (whig) renewed his amendment, that five per cent of the subscription should be paid in. Lost—Ayes 11, nays 17.

Mr. Ranceck (whig) moved to make the corporation ambject to those provisions of the revised statutes which regulate the election of directors of moneyed corporations. He called the attention of the Senate to the importance of this. If this company was to be called into existence, it should be under some of the restrictions known to law and applicable to other corporations. The Senate has just decided that this corporation, with one hundred millions of dollars, shall be permitted to go into existence without the payment of a salitary dollar—to start in foil being, issuing the stack over the varelt doing what is not authorized to any other corporation—to go into the lands of nen who may be reputable, or they may be without character. There is no curranty but that the corporation may pass into atterly worthless holders, and they ought to have sense means of protection. His amendment proposed to extend this protection, it was in force in chas of small comeanes. Is it wise and prudent, in the discharge of our duty as legislators to the community, to set this monatrons corporation, this embodiment of a prefessed capital of an hundred millions of dollars, effort in the country without some guard and guaranty? If this company is to be let loose, without any jurisdiction of our courts over it, it would be very poor comity towards our aster States.

Mr. Busrott (dem.) said—The adoption of this amendment would be all nonsense—perfect nonsense—unless power was given to the country of the consideration of the amendment heretofore offered by Mr. Talser, constituting a mainistrative and financial department in this corporation, he attended to have more than one string t pany should not be sent to Weshington, with the endorsement of the State of New York, to receive whatever the general government may please to render them. The State of New York will become an endorser of all projects so little meritorious as not to be able to stant in their own right.

Mr. Wano (whig) said no one had asked his advocacy of the bill. He desired to approach it with calm deliberation and just reflection. He would guard the bill by all discreet and wise restrictions, and leave nothing to the doubtful construction of words, which may be curiously or improperly turned about. The bill ought, by precise limitation, to be guarded against being converted into a huge monopoly of a vast landed estate. Its powers should be defined, and if it receives power from the other States, it should be considered as parting from us, and forfeit the powers derived from us.

An amendment limiting the width of road-way to 300 feet was lost, by ayes 8, rays 15.

Mr. Barneck then opposed the bill with great carnestness. He said, if this bill was to pass, it would be because the choice, select, circle of corporators had been enlarged. One Senator after another had been won to it, by baving the name of a friend inserted in the first section of the bill.

Mr. Barnert (dem.) called to order, and, Mr. Babook insisting the point of order was reduced to writing by having the name of a friend inserted in the first section of the bill.

Mr. BENEHT (dem.) called to order, and, Mr. Babcock insisting, the point of order was reduced to writing.

The point of order was submitted; but, as some difficulty arose out of the question of the accuracy of the statement of the point of order, Mr. Bennett, on the appeal of Mr. Cornell, withdrew his call to order.

Mr. Babcock continued—He said that Senators had been picked up one by another to vote for the bill for the reason he had assigned. He did not intend to use the word in an offensive sense. The most whole-come amondments have been voted down, however just and right. It was intended to force this bill through with all its powers—such as had never been granted to any corporation by republic or neonarchy, from the days of Adam down. A proposition a few years since to create such a corporation would have been denounced as monstrom. The names of the best known and most enterprising capitalists in the Union have been proposed as corporators, and voted down. The whole power of the distribution of this steck is given without the regulation of law.

Pending Mr. B.'s remarks the Senate adjourned.

The Zion's Heroid takes the following view of the progress of Methodism in this country. He says:—"American Methodism is not yet a century old. In the incredible short space of eighty seven years it has built four thousand two hundred and twenty churches, (which is a little less than one for every week of her existence,) at a cost of fourteen millions seven hundred and thirty thousand five hundred and seventy one dollars. It has also srected and endowed its colleges and numerous academics with large sums. It has built innumerable parsonage, and supplied itself with church and Sabbath school literature. Now, most of these churches having been newly creeted, rebuilt, or remodelled, and most of these vast outlays having been made within the last quarter of a century, we think it no exaggeration to estimate the expenditures of Methodism'in the United States, for home purposes, at an average very little short of one million of dollars per annum for the last twenty-five year, in addition to what it has paid for the support of its ministry.
